About LMC's Conservation Education Outreach Programs

Loggerhead Marineline Center (LMC) was founded on the notion that education is the key by which we unlock the door to understanding and awareness of ourselves and our impact on our surroundings. It is from this core value that LMC derives its dedication to forging opportunities for individuals and their communities to engage in conservation education. Whether it be in the classroom or in the field, LMC meets learners where they are in their journey to understanding and connecting with the ocean and provides the tools and resources needed to take an active role in their own lives and communities. Unwrap the Waves is one of many conservation education outreach programs that LMC has developed to empower students and their families to participate in the global effort to keep our ocean clean, blue and trash-free.

LMC is a nonprofit sea turtle research, rehabilitation and educational institution that promotes conservation of ocean ecosystems with a focus on threatened and endangered sea turtles. The Center features an on-site hospital, research laboratory, educational exhibits and aquariums, and also operates the Juno Beach Pier, which hosts world-class angling and sightseeing. Situated on one of the world's most important sea turtle nesting beaches, Loggerhead Marineline Center is open daily and hosts over 350,000 guests free-of-charge each year. The Center's conservation team works with 90 local and international organizations across six continents to form partnerships and share conservation initiatives and best practices that are core to its mission of ocean conservation. The Center is expanding and has launched its Waves of Progress capital expansion campaign, designed to accelerate and amplify LMC's conservation and education impact. When complete, the facility will offer one of the world's most advanced and unique experiences for guests and scientific partners.
